

Dance, Dance, Dance

V1

Humans built a cyber web
I know webs the spider said
They criss-cross their telephone lines
No lines are as fine as mine
I know what you know
Heard the spider from a crow
Humans think that they're so great
Said the crow then spider he ate
The crow flew from a tree
No one is as cleaver as me
He thought that he was king
Just because of a pair of wings
Something Crow did see
Caused a fit of jealousy
Humans doing what he can't
As he watched an outdoor dance

Chorus

Dance, Dance, Dance
Get up, get up, move to a beat
Celebrate why we're unique
And Dance, Dance, Dance
Use the blessing of your feet
To move to the music that you seek

V2

Ever wonder why a snake
Will roll around and heave and shake
Getting rid of its old skin
Is it shedding its old sins?
Crow lands near by Snake
And tells him that it's too late
Humans have learned to shake?
What is next for Heaven's sake?
Wait, it's worse than that
Crow was saying as they chat
Coming out of their bodies
Is the sound of a crazy beat
No way! You don't say
The snake said in great dismay
Some animals learn to prance
Only humans dare to dance

Dance, Dance, Dance

Chorus

V3

Snake slithered to a pond
And wondered what was beyond
A beaver was so busy
Happily chewing on a tree

Snake yelled, "Hear the word"
"The latest news on the human herd"
Beaver said, "I don't give a damn"
"They can't build a decent dam"

Snake said "no really"
"You've got to hear - this story"
The beaver listened with earnest
And thought the story was told in jest

The beaver cannot believe
All human sense has taken leave
"Why would they take a chance?"
"To drop their guard and do a dance"

Repeat Chorus 2 times
